

Maybe you've heard of UF/IFAS Extension, but you're not sure what we do. The short answer is, we deliver science-based information from University of Florida experts to help people.

Our audience is as large and varied as Florida's population. People often associate UF/IFAS Extension programs with agriculture, and that's a big part of our job. But there's so much more.

We help homeowners, homemakers, retirees and children with programming that can help them be healthy, save money, meet challenges and enjoy the benefits of life in the Sunshine State.

We'd like to help YOU. With offices in all 67 Florida counties, UF/IFAS Extension is never far away. And with our many online resources, we're available to help 24 hours a day, every day.

You can learn more about UF/IFAS Extension by visiting our main website at sfyl.ifas.ufl.edu. It's your doorway to information on agriculture, natural resources, food safety, money management, lawn care and gardening, 4-H youth development, sustainable living, family issues, Extension events, our massive EDIS online library and much, much more!
