Is your 10-14 year old child looking for fun adventure this summer? Consider Sustainability Camp! Campers will learn basic life skills to survive the zombie apocalypse, led by local scientists in horticulture, urban forestry, and sustainability. Highlights include activities in seed saving, rainwater catchment, plant identification, and strategies to work towards zero waste. After three days of fun, campers gain a better understanding of how to grow their own food, collect water and recycle organic waste. Sustainability Camp is a collaboration between UF/IFAS 4-H Youth Development and Florida-Friendly Landscaping™ programs.
